ACTIVATED CHARCOAL POWDER

1 LB (473 ML)

WHAT IS IT?

Activated charcoal is simply burnt wood that has had all its oxygen removed. It is a non-toxic universal antidote that can be taken internally or applied topically.

In powdered form, activated charcoal is one of nature's most efficient adsorbents—a powerful aid in eliminating toxins, gas and many poisons from the human system.*

DIRECTIONS:

General intestinal distress and gas: Take one tablespoon stirred in a glass of water, up to six times daily. (Children: 1/2 tablespoon.) Follow with a second glass of water. Note: Best when taken 2 hours before or after a meal.

Diarrhea: Take one tablespoon stirred in a glass of water upon notice of first complaint and again with each bowel movement. Follow with a second glass of water. Note: Stool darkening is normal and may continue for a few days after use.

Red, painful, or swollen skin: Wash area thoroughly. Mix charcoal with water to form thick paste. Spread paste onto paper towel and then fold in half. Position over afflicted area for 10–15 minutes or until swelling and pain stops. Repeat as necessary.

CAUTION: Keep out of reach of children. Not for long-term internal use. Contact your physician to determine if activated charcoal may be taken with your current medication. Avoid applying charcoal directly to open wounds.
